Bombshell

HYDRANGEA PANICULATA

Hydrangea 'Bombshell' lives up to its name with its abundant flowering and compact growth habit making it a hit in the garden or on the patio. From December until the end of summer, 'Bombshell' will bloom with a non-stop profusion of beautiful rounded flower heads covered in elegant creamy-white flowers that shift to a delicate green over time, flushing pink as nighttime temperatures cool off in autumn. Great in pots or container arrangements, as well as in garden beds and makes a lovely cut flower. 'Bombshell' is winter hardy and prefers well-worked, moist soil in a full sun, to partially shaded area. Deciduous.
