

KiwiFlora our genetics • your growth

Thumbelina Leigh

LAVANDULA ANGUSTIFOLIA

Lavendula angustifolia Thumbelina Leigh is a charming miniature lavender. This garden favorite grows in a neat, compact form displaying fine, fragrant foliage and flowers of an intensely bright and beautiful violet-blue. Thumberlina Leigh is the earliest flowering angustifolia Lavender on the market, and continues with a long blooming season. After the first flowering, usually in early summer the plant should be cut back by half and shaped to the desired form and a second flowering will occur. Essential oil trails from Thumbelina Leigh have been absolutely stunning though this is not the direction of this species. Drought resistant/drought tolerant plant.

SIZE	H 40cm W 40cm
BLOOM TIME	Early Summer re-blooming
FOLIAGE	Green
HABIT	Tight
PROPAGATION METHODS	Cuttings
HARDINESS	Heat and cold tolerant
USDA HARDINESS ZONES	4+
LICENCE	Licence available world wide
PROTECTION STATUS	.