Little Flick (syn. Colorscape)

NANDINA DOMESTICA

Charming selection of the very popular and versatile Nandina domestica, commonly known as Heavenly Bamboo. Cute Nandina 'Little Flick', also known as 'Colorscape' in the United States, is quite the 'show-off', flaunting a mass of highly decorative, vibrant red new foliage, that takes centre-stage come early spring. The best part is that 'Little Flick' holds onto its vibrant red foliage almost year round, fading out and merging with the muted tones of mature foliage just before the next riot of red foliage is produced. 'Little Flick' makes an ideal filler in a garden border, low screening plant, colour contrast amongst the greenery, and excellent addition to a Japanese themed garden. The best colour is obtained from planting in full sun, in well-composted, well-drained soil. Evergreen.
